

NITROUS OXIDE (LAUGHING GAS) TREATMENT IN ORAL AND DENTAL PROCEDURES

Nitrous oxide makes the patient feel relaxed. Dental anxiety fades or totally disappears. During the treatment the patient is conscious and aware of the measures carried out.

Don't eat anything for 4 hours and don't drink anything for 2 hours before the treatment.

- nitrous oxide is breathed in through the nose, thus the treatment cannot be used if you have flu
- cough or swelling in your respiratory track may also prevent the use of treatment
- do tell your dentist before the procedure about any medication, illnesses, or allergies you may have.

If problems occur:

If you have problems later or find the situation otherwise confusing, call weekdays to your own dentist or weekday evenings, weekends and on public holidays tel. 116 117.
